A Detailed look at US q1 GDP reveals strong domestic demand rather than any hint of stagflation.

The Q1 GDP growth rate of 1.6% undershot a median estimate of 2.5%, but it was dragged lower by a surge in imports and slower inventory accumulation. Importantly, final sales to domestic private purchasers – a core measure of domestic demand that strips out the impact of trade and inventories – rose at a solid 3.1% pace - only a fraction down on the previous quarter. Even with the core PCE deflator accelerating from 2% in Q4 to 3.7% (0.3 over expectations), real personal consumption still grew at 2.5%. Rather than any whiff of stagnation, the data point to strong domestic demand and elevated price pressures. It also won't make good reading for the doves on the Fed.

Private Credit's Answer to Liquidity Problem Finally Takes Shape

By Andrew Restuccia, Nick Timiraos and Alex Leary

(Wall Street Journal) -- WASHINGTON -- Donald Trump's allies are quietly drafting proposals that would attempt to erode the Federal Reserve's independence if the former president wins a second term, in the midst of a deepening divide among his advisers over how aggressively to challenge the central bank's authority.

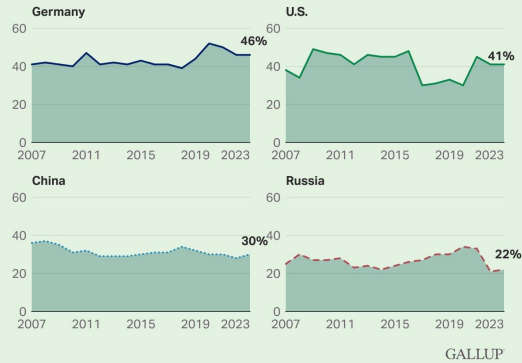

Former Trump administration officials and other supporters of the presumptive GOP nominee have in recent months discussed a range of proposals, from incremental policy changes to a long-shot assertion that the president himself should play a role in setting interest rates. A small group of the president's allies -- whose work is so secretive that even some prominent former Trump economic aides weren't aware of it -- has produced a roughly 10-page document outlining a policy vision for the central bank, according to people familiar with the matter.

The group of Trump allies argues that he should be consulted on interest-rate decisions, and the draft document recommends subjecting Fed regulations to White House review and more forcefully using the Treasury Department as a check on the central bank. The group also contends that Trump, if he returns to the White » Bakhmut area – 92 OShBr managed to regain control over some positions south of Ivanivsk. The enemy mainly conducts infantry attacks, no significant changes have been recorded. The enemy continues to withdraw reserves in the form of personnel and equipment for the temporary location in Bakhmut.

» Donetsk shade - Pandora's box is open. Katsaps continue to gain a foothold in Ocheretyny and Novobakhmutivka. The attempt to advance towards Progress was stopped by a successful counterattack by the 100th OMBR. The enemy continues its onslaught in Novokalynovo, where it managed to stand on the road, as well as in Berdychi and Semenivka, where units of the Defense Forces show high-quality maneuver warfare, reacting to the movement of enemy assault groups. Unfortunately, the forces are not equal, the bastards outnumber the Defense Forces in the infantry. This is not to mention the anti-aircraft guns, artillery and equipment. Battles continue near Umanskyi, Pervomayskyi and in Georgiivka.

» Zaporizhzhya flavor – fighting continues in Robotyn and on the eastern outskirts of the village, no changes have been recorded.

» Taurian shade - no changes.

 Analytical note. The situation around the breakthrough near Ocheretino revealed a number of problems. Starting with the incompetence of some spokespeople, who undermine trust in the military-political leadership with statements that, against the background of the visual presence of the enemy in the center of the village, look extremely false. And this is at a time when you can call the brigade or check the situational awareness system. Ending by ignoring a number of chronic problems in certain line units of the Defense Forces, which are placed in responsible areas of the front.

- The leadership of the 115th OMBR is responsible for the collapse of the defense in the entire area, allowing significant losses in killed, wounded and missing. It's not a secret, there are enough fresh publications on searching for relatives in social networks. Private soldiers should not be punished for the lack of organization and interaction in the brigade - they pay with their lives and health anyway.

INTELLIGENCE UPDATE

- The husband of prominent Russian influencer Yelena Blinovskaya has joined the Russian Armed Forces military campaign in Ukraine in an effort to stop Blinovskaya going to prison on tax evasion charges. On 16 April 2024, Blinovskaya's husband, Alexei Blinovsky, was pictured serving in a specially created military unit of the Russian Armed Forces, known as the Bars Kaskad, near Ukraine.
- This unit was reportedly set up by Russian State Duma Defence deputy chairman, Dimitry Sablin. The unit is predominantly involved in Uncrewed Aerial Vehicle operations normally away from the frontline. It has been active since October 2022 and has had at least 10 United Russia Party members, and sons of Kremlin VIPs enlist. Enlisted VIPs are reportedly given a protection detail.
- Enlistment with Bars Kaskad likely allows Russian elite figures to sidestep statutory Russian military service requirements with guaranteed safety and potentially curry favour with the Kremlin. Blinovsky's case is the first recorded time where an individual has joined the unit to help a family member to avoid prison.

INTELLIGENCE UPDATE

- The advance of Russian forces west of Avdiivka, Donetsk Oblast, has accelerated within the past week. Russian Ground Forces (RGF) have created a narrow salient further into Ukrainian territory to enter the town of Ocheretyne, located approximately 15km north of central Avdiivka.
- Since RGF took control of Avdiivka in mid-February 2024, the area has remained one of the primary areas of Russian operations. Despite sustaining continued high losses, it is highly likely that RGF are able to continuously target Ukrainian positions in the area and have taken control of several small settlements.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Alert Number: I-042524-PSA
April 25, 2024

Alert on Cryptocurrency Money Services Businesses

The FBI warns Americans against using cryptocurrency money transmitting services that are not registered as Money Services Businesses (MSB) according to United States federal law (31 U.S.C. § 5330; 31 CFR §§ 1010; 1022) and do not adhere to anti-money laundering requirements. A few simple steps can prevent unintentional use of non-compliant services. For example, avoid cryptocurrency money transmitting services that do not collect know your customer (KYC) information from customers when required.

MSB REGISTRATION

The FBI has recently conducted law enforcement operations against cryptocurrency services which were not licensed in accordance with federal law. People who use unlicensed cryptocurrency money transmitting services may encounter financial disruptions during law enforcement actions, especially if their cryptocurrency is intermingled with funds obtained through illegal means.

RISKY SERVICES

Cryptocurrency money transmitting services that purposely break the law or knowingly facilitate illegal transactions will be investigated by law enforcement. Using a service that does not comply with its legal obligations may put you at risk of losing access to funds after law enforcement operations target those businesses.

TIPS TO PROTECT YOURSELF

- Before using a money transmitting service, check whether it is registered as an MSB with the US Treasury Department's Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (FinCEN). FinCEN provides a website where anyone can check whether a company is registered: <https://www.fincen.gov/msb-state-selector>
 - However, the inclusion of a business on the MSB Registrant Search web page is not a recommendation, certification of legitimacy, or endorsement of the business by any government agency.
- Beware of financial services that do not ask for KYC information including name, date of birth, address, and ID before allowing you to send or receive money or cryptocurrency.
- Understand that just because an app can be found in an app store does not necessarily mean it is a legal service and is complying with federal requirements.
- Avoid using services that advertise themselves for illegal purposes.
- Be cautious when using cryptocurrency services known to be used by criminals to launder their funds.

The FBI requests victims report fraudulent or suspicious activities to the FBI Internet Crime Complaint Center at www.ic3.gov.
